

CARE INSTRUCTIONS

Thanks for your trust.

Now the pain is over and the second part of your tattoo begins: The Cure. The quality of the healing is just as important as that of the tattooing. Therefore, you should absolutely respect the following rules for the next three weeks:

1. A fresh tattoo is a wound, similar to a scrape. It is therefore important to always apply cream to it with clean hands and to avoid contact with dirt. Good care will help maintain the color, keep infection away, and aid healing. It is normal for some blood, wound fluid, and paint to leak out in the first few days.

2. In the first 3 weeks you should avoid bathing and sauna and direct sunlight. You should also refrain vigorous movement of the affected part of the body and excessive sweating. If the tattoo starts peeling after a few days, please do not pluck it off. Even with severe itching, do not scratch, just tap gently.

With Dermalize film:

After 24 hours, carefully remove the self-adhesive film and rinse off the tattoo with lukewarm water. Pat the skin dry a little and let it air dry. Then cream them thinly. You can remove any glue residue with coconut oil. In case of redness or itching remove the film immediately

With cling film:

After 2 hours, carefully remove the film and gently wash the tattoo off with a neutral pH mild soap. Pat the skin dry a little and dry it with gentle paper towel. Then cream the tattoo thinly. For the first night, you can wrap your tattoo with another cling film to avoid staining your bedsheets.

Once you have removed the film, you should apply a thin layer of cream 3 to 5 times a day and wash off gently with a pH-neutral soap and lukewarm water. Avoid any rubbing with clothing.

After the first 3 weeks, the tattoo is superficially healed. Please make sure that the skin does not dry out and avoid direct sunlight or use strong sunscreen.
